

BOX SCORE

Boach

Each

Sox Defeat Red Sox

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

UP TO CADDY CADDAN

Epidemic Spreads: 26 Die

AL SMITH HURLS 'LIE' AT WM. ALLEN WHITE AND REFORM PASTOR

By RAYMOND E. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Albany, N. Y., July 14.—Governor Al Smith today bitterly denounced William Allen White, Kansas editor, and the Rev. O. R. Miller of Albany, superintendent of the New York State Civic League and editor of the Reform Bulletin, for picturing him as a friend of the moon.

This was the first time the Governor had struck out straight from the shoulder at his political foes since he was Striding up and down the reception room in the executive mansion in his shirt-sleeves, the Governor charged that the Rev. Mr. Miller was an "admitted liar" and that he would "write him up" to the brains trust to let Miller tell him what to say."

ON PAROLE FOR MURDER

of three men arrested in connection with alleged drug selling to addicts on Boston Common, is out on parole from Rhode Island State Prison, where he was serving 18 years for second degree murder.

GASTON ESTATE SUES ENWRIGHT FOR $90,000

Salem, July 14 (AP)—Fred W. Enwright, former Boston newspaper publisher who has made several appearances in court during the last few years, was again confronted with legal troubles today.

A bill in equity was filed in the Superior Court here by Roger Amory of Boston and others, acting as executors of the estate of the late William A. Gaston of Boston, with legal cross-complaints.

The bill states that the complainants are holders of a promissory note for $75,000, signed by Dwight C. Cabranza, president of the Cabranza Company, and the Boston Telegram Company.

Please Turn to Page 4, Column 2.

BOLT DID NOT KILL CABRANZA SAYS JURY

Mount Holly, N. J., July 14 (AP)—An inquiry concluded today by U. S. army officers from Camp Dix, near here, led to the finding that the plane of Capt. Emilio Carranza, who was found dead near Chatsworth had not been

DEMOCRATS IN WILD ROW AFTER MCGUIRE QUILTS

One of the wildest scenes ever developed at a political gathering in this state followed the resignation of Charles H. McGlue, chairman of the Democratic state committee, at its meeting today in Myers Hall of Tremont.

Temple. Ex-Mayor Talbot of Fall River asked if McGue was "forced out" and the storm broke, the meeting getting out of control of the temporary chairman, Mrs. Colin

W. McDonald. All in the hall, men and women members alike, were on their feet, most of them shouting to be heard and the gavel failed to still them.

RACE RESULTS AT EMPIRE
1—Westovers Ibbby 8-1, Spurn 5-1; Lillie Cane 1-2

the first time today at Northampton and Washington sts., which proved surprisingly pro-Smith, at Warren and Dudley sts. and at Adman sq., Dorchester. Smith led

RACE RESULTS AT EMPIRE
1—Westovers lbbv 8-1, Spurn 5-1; Lillie Cane 1-2

Loving Hearts Left Aching

In Crash of 'Mexico's Lindy'

On U. S. Friendship Flight

VICTIM OF LIGHTNING
Captain Emilio Carranza, leading Mexican pilot, killed near Mount Holly, N. J., when plane was struck during an electrical storm. This picture was taken during his visit in Washington on his good will flight.

COOLIDGE ORDERS WARSHIP BEAR DEAD FLIER HOME

Continued from First Page.

and respect for the airman and for the Mexican government and people should be extended officially.

The Florida, along with the battleship Arkansas, is now on a cruise with midshipmen, but orders were issued to make her ready for the eastward journey immediately. In the event of any difficulty along this line, the Arkansas could be brought in.

The Florida is due in Boston July 14, but orders have been issued for her to report to New York as quickly as possible. She is returning from southern waters.

A HIGH POK DUTY.

Secretary Davis of the War Department transmitted the following message of sympathy to the Mexican secretary of war:

"The deepest sympathy of the army of the United States is extended to the Mexican army on the loss of its intrepid aviator, Capt. Emilio Carranza. His daring and skill have been an inspiration to all peoples. He joins that group of illustrious men who have sacrificed their lives for the development of the science of aeronautics."

An official tribute to the memory of Capt. Carranza was paid in a message of sympathy sent to the Mexican embassy by the National Aeronautics Association.

"The president of the National Aeronautics Association expresses his sincere regret and deepest sympathy upon the death of the intrepid aviator, Capt. Emilio Carranza," read the message sent by Arthur Adams, president of the association.

"The death of Capt. Carranza is not only a great loss to the progress of aviation, but will sincerely touch the hearts of the two great peoples of the North American continent."

LOVE CALLED HIM

In the face of an impending storm, and overriding the objections raised by other airmen, the Mexican flier soared out of Roosevelt Field, New York, with death but an hour away.

He realized himself that conditions were adverse, but so anxious was he to return as quickly as possible to his bride from whose arms he had been snatched by his government's order, that he refused to consider the danger.

Officials in charge of Roosevelt field said that had the flie been an American, he would not have been allowed to use the runway, so desperate seemed his venture. But international courtesy forbade so extreme a course in case of the visiting Mexican.

Residents of Chatham and Mt. Holly heard the whirr of the plane above them as the storm descended, heard a distant crash in the heavens, heard no more, but realized that an untimely tragedy had been enacted in the clouds.

Today the body of Mexico's own "Lone Eagle" was removed to New York to be prepared for transportation back to the land that grieves for him.

Tribute memorial services will be broadcast over a network of eight stations.

When the airman's body was found his charred clothing proved that he had been the lightning bolt's victim, for there was no sign of fire in the wrecked plane.

Lindbergh Keeps His Thoughts to Himself

San Francisco, July 14 (AP)—Informed of the death of Capt. Emilio Carranza, Charles A. Lindbergh asked to be allowed to keep his feelings to himself.

Friends of the colonel declared that his high regard for the Mexican flie had made him feel that Carranza's death was too personal a matter for comment.

Superior, Wis., July 14 (AP)—In message addressed to President Calles, of Mexico, President Coolidge today expressed sorrow for the untimely death of Capt. Emilio Carranza, and reiterated his admiration for the Mexican aviator's personal qualities.

HOW MEXICAN FRIENDSHIP FLIER'S PLANE CRASHED IN WOOD AFTER BOLT
Boston Evening American staff artist's drawing shows how Capt. Carranza's plane crashed in a berry patch near Mt. Holly, N. J., after it had been struck by lightning. He had left Washington a brief while before the crash on a non-stop flight for Mexico City, although warned of storm danger.

ALL MEXICO IS STUNNED BY TRAGEDY

BODY OF 'MEXICO LINDY' DRAPED WITH U. S. FLAG

Mexico City, July 14—Its populace shocked and grief-stricken, all Mexico today mourned the untimely death of its greatest aviator, Capt. Emilio Carranza.

The tens of the people of Mexico, such as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is the idol of the people of the United States, the 25-year-old flie had won the hearts of his compatriots by his many daring exploits in the air.

He was to have been feted today in one of the country's greatest celebrations. But grim fate prevented him from completing his non-stop flight to this city from New York, and solemn dignitaries today took the place of the festal celebration planned.

New York, July 14 (AP)—The body of Capt. Emilio Carranza, Mexico's "lone eagle," arrived in New York today in a private hearse.

Accompanying the hearse were three automobiles carrying officials of the Mexican consulate and Lieut. Vincent D. Mea of the Sixteenth Infantry, U. S. A. Policemen rode on the hearse through the Holland tunnel under the Hudson river.

After a short stop, the funeral party swung to the undertaking establishment at Broadway and 54th st.

The coffin, draped with the American flag, was taken to the gold room of the funeral church, where it will repose in state until it is in his respects, but was not permitted to view the body.

How Carranza Gave Aid To Lindbergh is Told

New York, July 14—It is recalled here today that Captain Carranza, Mexican, good will flie, found dead beside his wrecked airplane near Mt. Holly, N. J., went to the help of Lindbergh when the Atlantic flie was forced down near Oak Harbor, O., June 26.

The two flies were on the way to Detroit, Lindbergh flying a new Curtiss Falcon airplane and Carranza piloting a plane identical with Lindbergh's new Ryan monoplane.

When the regular and reserve fuel tanks failed to function, Lindbergh came down in a cornfield near Oak Harbor. Carranza saw the landing, brought the Ryan plane down and took Lindbergh aboard, and they completed their trip in the Ryan plane.

Soon after the coffin arrived the first floral piece was received. It was from Anna, Calverton, singer known as "the Mexican songbird," a protégé of Enrico Caruso, who was a personal friend of the aviator.

Timothy B. Guerrero, Mexican senator from Baja Lake Potol, called at the funeral establishment to pay his respects, but was not permitted to view the body.

When the burial work was done, they said, the body would lie in state in the gold room.

Bride and mother of Capt. Emilio Carranza, the "Lindy of Mexico," shown receiving phone messages of the progress of his flight before the fatal crash.

HUB'S MEXICAN ENVOY MOURNS CARRANZA

The tragic death of Capt. Emilio Carranza, the "Lindy of Mexico," reflected the impetuousness of the Carranza family, according to Senator H. G. Dominguez, Mexican consul to Boston, who is deeply grieved over the untimely end of the daring young aviator.

"I attended the reception to Carranza in New York after his flight from Mexico City," Senator Dominguez said today, "and bore him goodbye and bon voyage when I took leave of him there on June 22, last."

"The name of the noted Carranza family whose members have contributed nobly to the cause of Mexico in the last few generations. He was a grand-nephew of former President Carranza and an uncle on his mother's side fought in the war against Maximilian."

"Aviation has caught the imagination of the Mexican people and her youthful flies are almost national heroes in the eyes of the populace. The death of Carranza will strike deep at the heart of Mexico."

Carranza Knew He Would Die in Air, Words Indicate

Washington, July 14 (AP)—Premeditation of death in the air was expressed by Capt. Emilio Carranza in Washington shortly after his arrival from Mooreville, N. C., where he had been forced down on his attempted non-stop flight to Washington.

Asked at that time if he intended to enter the race from Mexico City to Los Angeles in September, planned as part of the Los Angeles air meet, he said: "I will if I live that long."

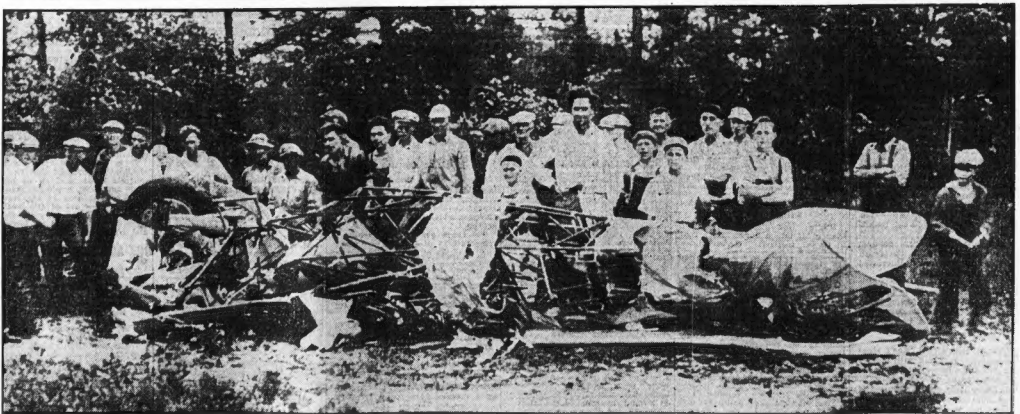

Newspaper men treated his remarks lightly, saying his flying skill should sustain him on any air venture.

Carranza, however, mindful of the hazardous for which he had just conquered, said: "This is dangerous business, and I probably won't be so lucky next time."

Carranza despatched a message of condolence to Senator Sebastian Carranza, father of the youth, who is coadjutor of the Mexican consul-general in New York.

Where Death Held the Airways

When 'Mexico's Lindy' Rode for Love

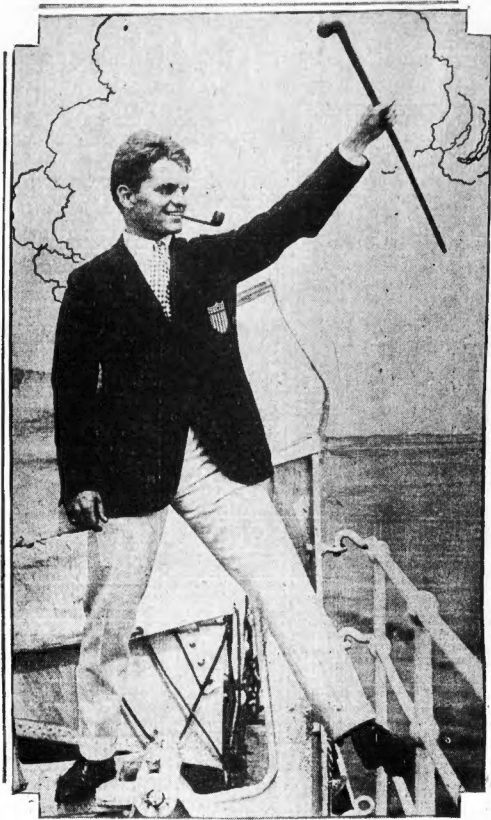

CROWD GATHERED ROUND THE WRECKAGE OF CAPT. CARRANZA'S PLANE WHERE HE DIED IN JERSEY FIELD
Capt. Emilio Carranza, his sturdy silver monoplane flaming meteor-like above a storm-racked wilderness, plunged to his death in a bog near Burlington, N. J., less than an hour after he had started on a projected non-stop flight from Roosevelt Field, L. I., to Mexico City. Returning home to his bride and to a triumphal welcome which awaited him, Mexico's greatest aviator drove his monoplane through a severe electrical storm which broke immediately after he left Roosevelt Field. Apparently his craft was struck by lightning.

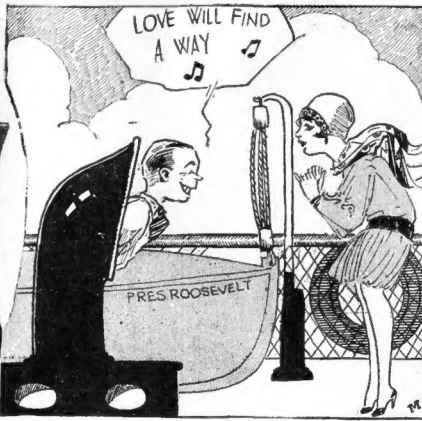

—Photo by Arno

GEDZIUM'S 'VOICE FROM THE GRAVE' TRAPS SUSPECT

Love Finds a Way for B. C. Star ~ Stowaway on Olympic Ship ~ So He Can Be Near His Girl

HE DID NOT WAVE THIS GOODBYE ON THIS TRIP
Frank Hussey, Boston College sprinting star, who stowed away on the President Roosevelt which is carrying the U. S. Olympic stars to Europe. He was found and friends aboard donated money for his passage.

ROMANCE IS BLAMED FOR HIS ACT
Hussey is shown at left sprinting. Drawing above indicates the surprise of "the girl in the case," Agnes Geraghty. He met her four years ago and it's been love since first sight.

Miss Geraghty, champion woman swimmer, who is in the Olympic contests. It was to be with her that Hussey slipped aboard the ship.

WARD BAKING CASE SUSPECT IN TOILS

Was it a voice from the grave that brought Louis La Coda of Princeton at, East Boston, into the toils of the law as a suspect in the murder of Edward C. Ross, bank messenger, slain at the Ward Baking Company's Cambridge plant in 1927?

Did Jerry Gedzium—"Jerry the Pole"—long admired by the underworld because it believed he went to the chair without "squawking," actually "lay the finger" on his pals before the electric current robbed him of life?

These are the questions that are being discussed all over the East by criminals and near-criminals today, following the arrest of La Coda, a suspect in the holdup murder, and also as suspect in the Fred Flint holdup of a few months ago.

"Jerry the Pole" paid with his life for the Ross murder, and under ordinary conditions, says the underworld, the police would have ceased further investigation.

But the arrest of La Coda caused a deal of thought among the fraternity who try to cheat the law. They know that Gedzium considered himself abandoned by his pals after his conviction for murder in the first degree.

It is known that, though "the gang" promised to look out for Jerry's wife after the law had made her a widow, she had not received a cent when Jerry sat down for the last time.

So now the underworld wonders if the man who "took the rap" became disgruntled at the last minute, and "robbled" on the men he thought had left him to his fate.

Dies in Plane

PATRICIA PERRY
Film actress, who, with Morris M. Titterton, Lindy compass inventor, was killed when their plane crashed at Pottsville, Pa.

REVERE STREET HOLE CAUSES 10TH CASUALTY

The tenth accident caused by a hole in the International highway, Revere, at Larkin st., occurred today when former Representative Robert Dinwiddie of East Boston was thrown from his automobile. The accident was reported to the police. The front wheel and rear axle of the car were smashed.

It is understood the state public works department, which built the road three years ago at a cost of $155,000, refuses to repair it, claiming it is the duty of the city of Revere to do so.

City Solicitor Wendell P. Murray of Revere has indicated the Revere public works department officials not to repair the road. He claims it is the duty of the state to do so. The road runs from Broadway to Newburyport turnpike at Malden.

BANDITRY "FUN," SAYS GIRL, 19, CONFESSING

Milwaukee, July 14 (INS)—Pleading guilty to charges ranging from assault with intent to murder to larceny of an auto, Inez Kramer, 19, of Klinger, Wis., "bandit queen," and Evelyn Pearson, 17, of Racine, will appear at Racine today for sentence.

Three youths, Frank Harmon, 19, James Wash, 18, and Charles Perrino, 18, members of the gang, were charged with assault with intent to murder and robbery.

"I have always thought how much fun it would be to mix up in banditry," Miss Kramer said, when she was arrested in a fashionable Milwaukee home, where she was employed as a domestic.

LOVE TRAGEDY FIGURES

THEIR QUARREL FATAL
Anna Zurlies and John Alekas of North Andover. Alekas is believed to have shot himself to death after a quarrel with Miss Zurlies over a letter from another man. A gun was found in a bare section of the riverbed of the Merrimack after Alekas had been seen walking in that direction. Miss Zurlies is prostrated.

BOSTON AMERICAN

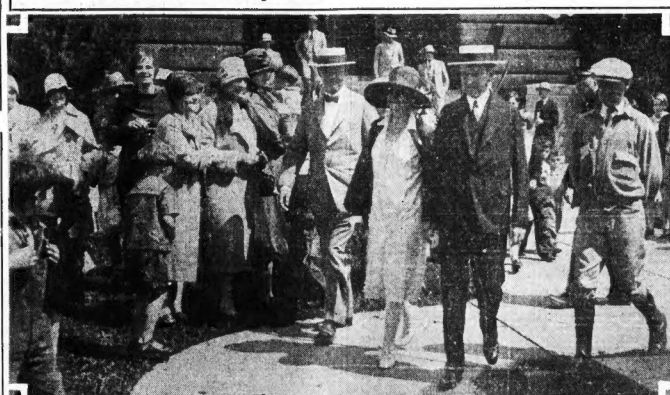

SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1928

BODY OF WAKEFIELD BOY FOUND IN LAKE

After an all-night search for Frank Fishburn, 8, of Hartley st., Wakefield, the boy's body was recovered today in Lake Quannapset, a victim of drowning.

Frank, with Fred Whitford, 6, and another older boy went on a fishing trip yesterday at the lake house runway. He wandered away, Fred told police, and they left for home.

President Gives Superior ~ Something for Gossip

THEY PAY SURPRISE VISIT TO SUMMER WHITE HOUSE OFFICE
Superior residents were taken unawares when President and Mrs. Coolidge, who are spending the summer at Brule, nearby, paid an unexpected visit to the Summer White House offices in Superior school. They are shown arriving there accompanied by Sacred Service men.

FROM CHORUS TO OPERA

Jane Carroll, Ziegfeld Follies beauty, who has just signed a contract to sing in the Metropolitan Opera company. She first attracted attention in the "Vagabond King," which played in Boston.

BETTY AIDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Photo by Bert

Even the wildest waves become harmless wavelets rippling in over the Cohasset sands as society youngsters alternate dips in the ocean with the modern sun bath. Every day, all day is play time for these happy little ones at their favorite and secluded beach.

Charlotte B. Richardson Susan C. Simonds Julia L. Simonds
SOUTH SHORE SANDS LURE SOCIETY'S SCIONS

NORTH SHORE TURNS OUT FOR GALA PROGRAM AT OPENING OF FAMED STILLINGTON HALL

THE STILLINGTON HALL SEASON OPENED LAST EVENING MOST SUCCESSFULLY AND WITH ALL THE social eclat synonymous with the tradition Leslie Buswell has built up, in three short years, for all Stillington affairs. Some of the North Shore's most consequential ones stepped from their motors to the cloister, and so to the mellow beauty that is Stillington Hall itself. Miss Esther Dale's clear soprano and Salzedo's rippling harp notes lifted out over the smart audience. Diamonds flashed and pearls gleamed. Matrons were superbly attired and masculine escorts added the somber black and white that is always so remarkably effective.

SOCIETY RUSTLED TO ITS PLACES. THE STILLINGTON stage presented its usual finished detail, of old English fireplace, tapestries and leaded windows. A fine old ship's figurehead spread golden eagle wings up in the rafters. Pewter gleamed on the walls. A fire bucket or two added their "early American" atmosphere. Antique copper lanterns gave the scene just the right degree of luminous gloom. Debutantes, past and future, made an usher corps refreshingly simple in white silk frocks. And everything was as perfect as the Buswell audience have come to expect, and as landlady arranged.

MRS. GERALD A. BRANWELL IS A MOST DECORATIVE matron. Last evening she was in black, a swathing wrap of midnight satin over a lace frock that fluttered about the heels of her smart black satin slippers. Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Lowell Cabot were among the early arrivals who passed down the cloistered approach that is one of Stillington's many, many charms. Mrs. Cabot was in orchid shade, a lovely chiffon frock with wrap of metal cloth and sable. A Fiat Andrew had guests, among them the Randall McKevins, Mr. McKevins most distinguished and interesting, and landlady arranged.

THE HENRY GETTY CHILDREN AND THE M. GRAEME HAUGHTONS are notable in any assemblage. The handsome Mrs. Haughton was in black with pearls, and the equally good-looking Mr. Chilton also was in black, a suit frock and wrap, with here and there a flash of light from diamond clasp or bracelet. Miss Katharine Lane's bright-lined metal cloth wrap covered a pastelsilked chiffon frock. A very efficient usher corps was composed of Miss Susan Wigglesworth, Miss Martha Wigglesworth, Miss Nancy Hayward and Miss Mary Harrison, the last a young Philadelphia girl.

GROWING LUSTILY AND ATTAINING A VIGOR FAR BEYOND its very brief span of years, the Cohasset Horse Show this August celebrates its third birthday in a two-day event. Saturday, August 18, is originally set for South Shore equines to show their points, does not contain sufficient hours to accommodate all the entrants. So Hugh Harcourt and his coadjutors decide to add a day. And announce that the first bugle blows on Friday, August 17, and that the first day will be devoted to the stiller-youngest and their pet manes and pony cars.

YOUNG COHASSET IS AS MUCH AT HOME IN THE SADDLE as she is in the salt waves that ripple so gently up its sandy beaches. Like their little cousins, the society slips up the North Shore, they are hoisted into the saddle soon after their swaddling clothes days. There's a pony or so in every stable to be the little ones' companion and playmate on jaunts through leafy country lanes. The horse show grounds, half way up the hill on Schiller st., is the Hugh Harcourt practice ring, and provides ample space for both tankard and gallery.

OLD JOHN HARVARD HAS HIS REPRESENTATIVES AMONG the young athletes out for Olympic honors. Young Mr. Alton Chisham, 24, son of Mrs. Forrester Parker and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lyman, is now out in the American shell. And he sailed away for Holland only last Wednesday on the President Roosevelt carrying loads of good wishes from adoring friends and relatives on this side.

FORRESTER CLARK, ANOTHER HARVARD ATHLETE, ALSO goes sailing to Amsterdam, high with hope of the possibility of being an Olympic contender. He sailed away on the Roosevelt a few days ago with eyes and thoughts turned toward the River Amstel, and the possibility of representing America in a swifly moving shell. As an alternate, Mr. Clark may find a place at an oar, in case some dire misfortune should overtake another oarsman.

AND NOW J. DUDLEY CLARK TAKES THE TRANS-OCEAN trail in the wake of his stalwart son, going to look on at these Olympic games, representing all the world of athletes and of which all the world, athletes and otherwise, are talking. Mr. Clark and Charles E. Mason are sailing by the Paris the next time that liner turns Eastward. And that is tomorrow evening, on a Sunday morning sailing out of New York.

TOMORROW'S SAILING OF THE PARIS IS OF INTEREST IN an indirectly way. The Rev. Dr. Percy G. Kammerer, formerly of Boston and recently of Pittsburgh, is a passenger, and Henry Chilton goes with him. Bostonians remember the brilliant Dr. Kammerer as rector of Emmanuel Church, with a summer home up the Maine coast at York Harbor. The Paris passenger list also is inscribed with the name of Mrs. Charles E. Fisher, who with Miss Louise Inches, sails to be abroad until mid-September.

Betty Aiden

AL AGAIN WINS IN G. O. P. CITY OVER HOOVER

Continued from First Page.

The steady trend that Smith has maintained since the straw vote was started on July 3, of taking votes from the Coolidge column, was also maintained in these two cities. Smith collected a total switch of 144 votes from Coolidge, while Hoover was at work getting 11 votes from Davis.

Boston ran up a total vote for the day of 891 despite the rain and humid conditions. The polling precincts in the city proper were located at Boston Common, Park st., and on State st. in the financial district. The vote yesterday was split up as follows: Hoover 257, Smith 1215; in 1924, Coolidge 325 and Davis 111. The aggregate swing from Coolidge to Smith was 237; Davis to Hoover 25.

On Monday another move will be made by the presidential straw vote caravan. It will be seen in Quincy and Milton. In the former city, they will be operated in front of City Hall, and at the Hancock Auto Park, next to the Quincy Theater.

In Milton the voting will be at the East Milton ex. and on the Milton side of Dorchester Lower Mills.

ASSESSMENTS MAY AID WATCH ON THE RHINE

A motion supported by Stephen C. Sullivan of East Boston, assistant secretary to Mayor Kimball, seeking the appointment of a representative committee to consider the feasibility of assessments for the support of their publication, was adopted today by the veterans of the Third Division in convention at the Edna Hotel.

15,000 Bottles Seized

At Albany, N. Y., July 14 (AP)—About 15,000 bottles of alcohol seized by customs inspectors in freight cars here today.

Smith Leading in Straw Vote from 14 Cities

FOLLOWING are the results of the presidential poll up to date, including the vote of yesterday, taken by Hearst newspapers throughout the country:

	1928	1924
BOSTON, Evening American	5,669	16,455
CHICAGO, Herald and Examiner	8,814	8,304
NEW YORK, American	2,860	8,375
MILWAUKEE, Wisconsin News	977	2,230
PITTSBURGH, Sun-Telegraph	11,541	15,594
WASHINGTON, D. C., Her	558	1,112
DETROIT, Times	564	1,871
ATLANTA, Georgian	144	158
ROCHESTER, Journal-American	2,378	2,469
ALBANY, Times-Union	122	292
SAN FRANCISCO, Exam-	4,091	9,041
LOS ANGELES, Examiner	1,288	3,262
BALTIMORE, Md., News	1,611	1,794
SYRACUSE, Journal-American	1,069	972
No reports received from San Antonio or Seattle.	1,079	825

WIFE OF 'LOVE WRIGHT'S WIFE' EAGLE' NEAR COLLAPSE OF HIS HOME

San Diego, Cal., July 14 (IN)—The wife of Capt. Eugene Wright, who was killed today, is near collapse of his home. The wife of Capt. Wright, who was killed today, is near collapse of his home. The wife of Capt. Wright, who was killed today, is near collapse of his home.

Train Hits Bus, Ten Die

Warsaw, July 14 (IN)—Ten persons were killed today and 10 others suffered serious injuries when an omnibus filled with passengers was struck by a train near Bialystok.

Giulitti's Condition Better

Rome, July 14 (IN)—Former Premier Giovanni Giulitti, who has been critically ill of a kidney ailment, has somewhat improved today.

LYNN BURGLAR AWAKES GIRLS; SEEKS PURSES

A burglar who specializes in visits to girls' bedrooms in search of pocketbooks is being sought by the Lynn police.

Early today Miss Mary McDermott of Summer st., Lynn, was awakened by a prowler in her room. She screamed and threw an alarm clock at the intruder. He escaped through a window, leaving her pocketbook on the sill. Within a few minutes Miss Helen Griffin, who lives at 174 Sumner st., awoke from a sound sleep to find a man in her room. Her screams awakened the neighborhood. The burglar escaped through the window of her room, taking with him her pocketbook containing about $5.

3 BOY SCOUTS HAVING 'TIME OF LIFE' IN AFRICA

New York, July 14 (IN)—Three Boy Scouts—Robert Dick Douglas, Jr., of Greenboro, N. C.; David R. Martin, Jr., of Austin, Minn., and Douglas Oliver, of Atlanta, Ga., are experiencing the adventure of their young lives. Word came today by cable to the National Boy Scout council that the three boys had arrived in the Transvaal wilds of Africa. They are spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson in the heart of the African big game country.

SENDS $2 TO CITY FUNDS WHEN CONSCIENCE PAINS

The riches of the city of Boston were expended today to the extent of two dollars. A money—$2 bill—was enclosed in a letter to the city treasurer with this notation: "To the Conservation Fund—$2. Will you kindly have this printed in the press as a receipt?"

DE LUXE SERVICE Between Boston and Montreal

The AMBASSADOR

Leave Boston (North St.) 11:30 P. M. Daily. Arrive Montreal (St. James) 7:30 A. M. Daily. (Chained Time) Ticket price includes first class, porter, dining car and library. Return ticket $10.00. For information, tickets and full particulars apply to the North Shore or to T. P. P. (N. Y. 111) or to the Canadian National Railway, Montreal, Quebec or Toronto.

THE BARBER DEATH CELL SOBS

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

The House interest when he was a member of the New York Legislature.

Smith charged that White got his information from Miller.

White has brains and he ought to know better than to take any information from an admitted liar like Miller," the governor said.

White got his staff from Miller and Miller is nothing but a parasite living on the people of New York by sending out this false information.

"Miller's recent appearance before the United States Senate investigating committee showed that he is an admitted liar and it ought to give the people an idea of the kind of a man he is."

The governor paused for a moment as if he were searching his mind for words with which to describe Miller. Then he added:

"Miller calls himself a reformer, but he is a reformer in name only."

"Then Rev. Miller didn't get the facts right on the 'Bribe' record?" the Governor was asked.

"He got it right," he replied.

NO SUCH RILLS.

Turning to notes he had on the subject, he said:

"I take the word thing he and White said about me. They said I was a liar because there never was a law on the statute books which permitted such things. Consequently there never was a bill offered in the Legislature to amend such law."

"Then they say I voted for a bill to permit saloons to be near schools. In fact, the Court of Appeals said on Sunday. As long as I was in the Legislature, I never remember one."

"Then they say I voted for a bill to permit saloons to be near schools. In fact, the Court of Appeals said on Sunday. As long as I was in the Legislature, I never remember one."

"Then they say I voted for a bill to permit saloons to be near schools. In fact, the Court of Appeals said on Sunday. As long as I was in the Legislature, I never remember one."

Bridal Welcome Guests Turn Firemen; One Woman Overcome

Party guests turned to fire fighters today at the home of Mrs. Arthur T. Day of Hancock st., Cambridge, when a blaze in the basement threatened the houses as a smoke victim.

The guests gathered for a welcome party to George L. Day and his bride, returning from their honeymoon.

Mrs. Day made the discovery and rushed to the cellar with Mrs. Mary Lohrner, her niece, and Helen Torrey, 16-year-old relative. A garden hose, manned by the guests, was quickly used to quickly smothered the flames after Mrs. Day was overcome.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

A last gesture against death to the electric chair was made today by Nathan Desatnick, convicted holy slayer, when he called for his counsel, Congressman George R. Studds of Worcester.

The condemned man his counsel with the mother of the babe whose death has brought a father to the death cell at Charlestown, poured over evidence for an hour in the hope of finding an opening toward a motion for a new trial.

"I will endeavor to interview a certain state witness," was the assurance Congressman Studds made after the visit. He hinted a change in testimony might prove a wedge for the new trial motion.

The trip to the death house was the second of the day for Desatnick's wife, Mrs. Desatnick, who brought definite news that Baby Ruth will survive at her home for the first time tonight.

Warden William Hendry set the date after he asked Mrs. Desatnick when she would like to take the baby in.

"When would you suggest?" he asked.

"Tomorrow would be the best time," the warden said, and the wife agreed.

Desatnick, completely recovered from the collapse he had when his doom was sealed, was completely composed today. He ate his breakfast well into the morning and ate heartily at a late breakfast of cereal, eggs and toast and coffee.

Desatnick arrived in the Jewish rest home conducted by Moses L. Beder at 1000 Broadway, New York, where he was confined for the first time.

A chaplain promised he would be at the prisoner's cell from now until the State executes his toll, probably after midnight, Tuesday morning.

Despite the prisoner's complaint, warden Hendry wanted relatives of the man to visit him in the death house today.

BARBER DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

By humid close recent rains, he made the task of physicians a virtually hopeless one. Absences have formed in most of the patient's case studies of Worcester hospitals are being considered.

Nurses and doctors from Boston, New Haven, New Britain, Ct., and New York city are actively enforcing orders of health authorities that persons who handle food be subjected to at least one negative test while those handling milk submit to a more thorough examination.

A pathetic feature of the death of Mrs. Leroy Hubby, 70, one of the recent victims, is that her husband died of the maldy late Saturday.

In addition it was found that Dorothy Coons, who died two days ago following an operation for appendicitis, was also a victim of the epidemic.

Only a short time before the last breath of Mrs. Hubby, she had been named by town officials and health authorities as official suspect in giving out information concerning the epidemic. He had called on persons in the town to co-operate with the health department in an effort to curb the epidemic's spread.

Producers and dealers in milk and cream have been ordered to inspect their herds and flocks, and to report any signs of illness to the health department.

John B. Cummings and attorney James Fallon have retained as counsel.

Dr. Brimman, one of the fiercest opponents to putting the ruling into effect, has been ordered by the health department to abide by the health board's ruling.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

Douglas was taken along the Finnish plane.

Deaths Faithful Till Death Took Malmgren

(Special, 1928, by the Associated Press.)

Finland's most famous statesman, Carl Olof Malmgren, died today at 80, after a long illness.

Mr. Malmgren was born in 1848 in the village of Kauhajoki, Finland. He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

It was not until then that Capt. Prince Zappi and Albert Zappi, left him to push on. The two rescued men reached today in telling of their other experiences before being rescued by the Krainin.

They said that all the members of the crew of the Itala who were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala.

They said that all the members of the crew of the Itala who were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala.

Judge Disbelieves in "Angels of Joy"; 3 Get Six Months

If there is a male "angel" walking along Cambridge st. giving away money without being asked, then Judge Thomas J. Dwyer wants to meet that angel face to face.

When three men charged with being vagrants were arrested before him today they each claimed that a man walked to them on Cambridge st., near Joy, and proceeded to give them money by presenting them with money, unasked.

"I don't believe it," Judge Dwyer declared after hearing the story related by the men giving their names as Michael Smith, Joseph Conner and Robert Phillips. "But while you are serving six months in jail I shall try to catch the angel."

ON PAROLE FOR SLAVER

Continued from First Page.

Carroll and Bruno Kowalski, both of Thayer st., North End, are charged by the federal authorities with having, for the last three months, handled the distribution of drugs to addicts frequenting the Common.

According to Asst. U. S. Attorney John J. Walsh, Carroll was indicted for first degree murder in 1913 and convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the following year of second degree murder, serving seven years before being paroled.

COMMON BEST MARKET.

Members of the Boston police narcotics squad in civilian clothes yesterday made a hunt for the directing genius of the peddlers, who conduct business on various city playgrounds, avoiding their arrest by simulating an interest in the game of children and having the Common as their most lucrative haunt.

Because of the extent of the "drug" business on the Common, it is said to appear there daily, maintaining a "mark" department foreman, in order to keep close watch on his henchmen, and to give them the go-ahead signal to disperse his identity when caught.

Part of the credit of the "drug" trade is said to go to the "angel" who is said to appear there daily, maintaining a "mark" department foreman, in order to keep close watch on his henchmen, and to give them the go-ahead signal to disperse his identity when caught.

RASKOB DENIES

Continued from First Page.

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, at his summer home near Centerville, Md., today denied a report from the Legislature that he had been nominated for the Republican nomination at Kansas City.

"I did not talk to the President about the campaign," Mr. Raskob said. "I have been asked for my private opinion that Mr. Coolidge would be defeated, because, as a business man, he is not a statesman. The Republican party would take a chance with a weaker candidate against the popularity of Governor Smith."

Raskob denied emphatically that he had told a Washington correspondent that while he was a director of Governor Smith he preferred President Coolidge as a candidate.

Raskob indicated willingness to serve on the Lincoln League as a member of its executive committee, which has always been Republican, and which has been a part of the Democratic national committee.

"I have no desire to embarrass the union league," he said. "I shall be guided by the advice of its officers, and it is found that the union league has been to the rescue of the party in the past."

"About 10 years ago, when I was in the Lincoln League, I let it be known that I voted for Woodrow Wilson. I have never been officially affiliated with either the Republican or Democratic party, and have never voted either a Republican or Democratic vote in any election."

"I see an opportunity of performing some constructive service by helping relieve the confusion and confusion of the party. My feeling is that a scheme of control the manufacturer, the transportation and consumption of intoxicating liquors under which it must be had for home consumption and prevent the return of the saloon, which the use of liquor was abused in such communities as vote there under a local option law, will be the best solution."

"All right-thinking people are for temperance, law and order, and I expect them to be respected."

"I must assure that there is a wide lack of respect for the State and the nation, and I expect them to be respected."

"I expect them to be respected."

RASKOB DENIES

Continued from First Page.

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, at his summer home near Centerville, Md., today denied a report from the Legislature that he had been nominated for the Republican nomination at Kansas City.

"I did not talk to the President about the campaign," Mr. Raskob said. "I have been asked for my private opinion that Mr. Coolidge would be defeated, because, as a business man, he is not a statesman. The Republican party would take a chance with a weaker candidate against the popularity of Governor Smith."

Raskob denied emphatically that he had told a Washington correspondent that while he was a director of Governor Smith he preferred President Coolidge as a candidate.

Raskob indicated willingness to serve on the Lincoln League as a member of its executive committee, which has always been Republican, and which has been a part of the Democratic national committee.

"I have no desire to embarrass the union league," he said. "I shall be guided by the advice of its officers, and it is found that the union league has been to the rescue of the party in the past."

"About 10 years ago, when I was in the Lincoln League, I let it be known that I voted for Woodrow Wilson. I have never been officially affiliated with either the Republican or Democratic party, and have never voted either a Republican or Democratic vote in any election."

"I see an opportunity of performing some constructive service by helping relieve the confusion and confusion of the party. My feeling is that a scheme of control the manufacturer, the transportation and consumption of intoxicating liquors under which it must be had for home consumption and prevent the return of the saloon, which the use of liquor was abused in such communities as vote there under a local option law, will be the best solution."

"All right-thinking people are for temperance, law and order, and I expect them to be respected."

"I must assure that there is a wide lack of respect for the State and the nation, and I expect them to be respected."

"I expect them to be respected."

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

A last gesture against death to the electric chair was made today by Nathan Desatnick, convicted holy slayer, when he called for his counsel, Congressman George R. Studds of Worcester.

The condemned man his counsel with the mother of the babe whose death has brought a father to the death cell at Charlestown, poured over evidence for an hour in the hope of finding an opening toward a motion for a new trial.

"I will endeavor to interview a certain state witness," was the assurance Congressman Studds made after the visit. He hinted a change in testimony might prove a wedge for the new trial motion.

The trip to the death house was the second of the day for Desatnick's wife, Mrs. Desatnick, who brought definite news that Baby Ruth will survive at her home for the first time tonight.

Warden William Hendry set the date after he asked Mrs. Desatnick when she would like to take the baby in.

"When would you suggest?" he asked.

"Tomorrow would be the best time," the warden said, and the wife agreed.

Desatnick, completely recovered from the collapse he had when his doom was sealed, was completely composed today. He ate his breakfast well into the morning and ate heartily at a late breakfast of cereal, eggs and toast and coffee.

Desatnick arrived in the Jewish rest home conducted by Moses L. Beder at 1000 Broadway, New York, where he was confined for the first time.

A chaplain promised he would be at the prisoner's cell from now until the State executes his toll, probably after midnight, Tuesday morning.

Despite the prisoner's complaint, warden Hendry wanted relatives of the man to visit him in the death house today.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

By humid close recent rains, he made the task of physicians a virtually hopeless one. Absences have formed in most of the patient's case studies of Worcester hospitals are being considered.

Nurses and doctors from Boston, New Haven, New Britain, Ct., and New York city are actively enforcing orders of health authorities that persons who handle food be subjected to at least one negative test while those handling milk submit to a more thorough examination.

A pathetic feature of the death of Mrs. Leroy Hubby, 70, one of the recent victims, is that her husband died of the maldy late Saturday.

In addition it was found that Dorothy Coons, who died two days ago following an operation for appendicitis, was also a victim of the epidemic.

Only a short time before the last breath of Mrs. Hubby, she had been named by town officials and health authorities as official suspect in giving out information concerning the epidemic. He had called on persons in the town to co-operate with the health department in an effort to curb the epidemic's spread.

Producers and dealers in milk and cream have been ordered to inspect their herds and flocks, and to report any signs of illness to the health department.

John B. Cummings and attorney James Fallon have retained as counsel.

Dr. Brimman, one of the fiercest opponents to putting the ruling into effect, has been ordered by the health department to abide by the health board's ruling.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

Douglas was taken along the Finnish plane.

Deaths Faithful Till Death Took Malmgren

(Special, 1928, by the Associated Press.)

Finland's most famous statesman, Carl Olof Malmgren, died today at 80, after a long illness.

Mr. Malmgren was born in 1848 in the village of Kauhajoki, Finland. He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

It was not until then that Capt. Prince Zappi and Albert Zappi, left him to push on. The two rescued men reached today in telling of their other experiences before being rescued by the Krainin.

They said that all the members of the crew of the Itala who were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala.

They said that all the members of the crew of the Itala who were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala.

Judge Disbelieves in "Angels of Joy"; 3 Get Six Months

If there is a male "angel" walking along Cambridge st. giving away money without being asked, then Judge Thomas J. Dwyer wants to meet that angel face to face.

When three men charged with being vagrants were arrested before him today they each claimed that a man walked to them on Cambridge st., near Joy, and proceeded to give them money by presenting them with money, unasked.

"I don't believe it," Judge Dwyer declared after hearing the story related by the men giving their names as Michael Smith, Joseph Conner and Robert Phillips. "But while you are serving six months in jail I shall try to catch the angel."

ON PAROLE FOR SLAVER

Continued from First Page.

Carroll and Bruno Kowalski, both of Thayer st., North End, are charged by the federal authorities with having, for the last three months, handled the distribution of drugs to addicts frequenting the Common.

According to Asst. U. S. Attorney John J. Walsh, Carroll was indicted for first degree murder in 1913 and convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the following year of second degree murder, serving seven years before being paroled.

COMMON BEST MARKET.

Members of the Boston police narcotics squad in civilian clothes yesterday made a hunt for the directing genius of the peddlers, who conduct business on various city playgrounds, avoiding their arrest by simulating an interest in the game of children and having the Common as their most lucrative haunt.

Because of the extent of the "drug" business on the Common, it is said to appear there daily, maintaining a "mark" department foreman, in order to keep close watch on his henchmen, and to give them the go-ahead signal to disperse his identity when caught.

Part of the credit of the "drug" trade is said to go to the "angel" who is said to appear there daily, maintaining a "mark" department foreman, in order to keep close watch on his henchmen, and to give them the go-ahead signal to disperse his identity when caught.

RASKOB DENIES

Continued from First Page.

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, at his summer home near Centerville, Md., today denied a report from the Legislature that he had been nominated for the Republican nomination at Kansas City.

"I did not talk to the President about the campaign," Mr. Raskob said. "I have been asked for my private opinion that Mr. Coolidge would be defeated, because, as a business man, he is not a statesman. The Republican party would take a chance with a weaker candidate against the popularity of Governor Smith."

Raskob denied emphatically that he had told a Washington correspondent that while he was a director of Governor Smith he preferred President Coolidge as a candidate.

Raskob indicated willingness to serve on the Lincoln League as a member of its executive committee, which has always been Republican, and which has been a part of the Democratic national committee.

"I have no desire to embarrass the union league," he said. "I shall be guided by the advice of its officers, and it is found that the union league has been to the rescue of the party in the past."

"About 10 years ago, when I was in the Lincoln League, I let it be known that I voted for Woodrow Wilson. I have never been officially affiliated with either the Republican or Democratic party, and have never voted either a Republican or Democratic vote in any election."

"I see an opportunity of performing some constructive service by helping relieve the confusion and confusion of the party. My feeling is that a scheme of control the manufacturer, the transportation and consumption of intoxicating liquors under which it must be had for home consumption and prevent the return of the saloon, which the use of liquor was abused in such communities as vote there under a local option law, will be the best solution."

"All right-thinking people are for temperance, law and order, and I expect them to be respected."

"I must assure that there is a wide lack of respect for the State and the nation, and I expect them to be respected."

"I expect them to be respected."

RASKOB DENIES

Continued from First Page.

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, at his summer home near Centerville, Md., today denied a report from the Legislature that he had been nominated for the Republican nomination at Kansas City.

"I did not talk to the President about the campaign," Mr. Raskob said. "I have been asked for my private opinion that Mr. Coolidge would be defeated, because, as a business man, he is not a statesman. The Republican party would take a chance with a weaker candidate against the popularity of Governor Smith."

Raskob denied emphatically that he had told a Washington correspondent that while he was a director of Governor Smith he preferred President Coolidge as a candidate.

Raskob indicated willingness to serve on the Lincoln League as a member of its executive committee, which has always been Republican, and which has been a part of the Democratic national committee.

"I have no desire to embarrass the union league," he said. "I shall be guided by the advice of its officers, and it is found that the union league has been to the rescue of the party in the past."

"About 10 years ago, when I was in the Lincoln League, I let it be known that I voted for Woodrow Wilson. I have never been officially affiliated with either the Republican or Democratic party, and have never voted either a Republican or Democratic vote in any election."

"I see an opportunity of performing some constructive service by helping relieve the confusion and confusion of the party. My feeling is that a scheme of control the manufacturer, the transportation and consumption of intoxicating liquors under which it must be had for home consumption and prevent the return of the saloon, which the use of liquor was abused in such communities as vote there under a local option law, will be the best solution."

"All right-thinking people are for temperance, law and order, and I expect them to be respected."

"I must assure that there is a wide lack of respect for the State and the nation, and I expect them to be respected."

"I expect them to be respected."

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

A last gesture against death to the electric chair was made today by Nathan Desatnick, convicted holy slayer, when he called for his counsel, Congressman George R. Studds of Worcester.

The condemned man his counsel with the mother of the babe whose death has brought a father to the death cell at Charlestown, poured over evidence for an hour in the hope of finding an opening toward a motion for a new trial.

"I will endeavor to interview a certain state witness," was the assurance Congressman Studds made after the visit. He hinted a change in testimony might prove a wedge for the new trial motion.

The trip to the death house was the second of the day for Desatnick's wife, Mrs. Desatnick, who brought definite news that Baby Ruth will survive at her home for the first time tonight.

Warden William Hendry set the date after he asked Mrs. Desatnick when she would like to take the baby in.

"When would you suggest?" he asked.

"Tomorrow would be the best time," the warden said, and the wife agreed.

Desatnick, completely recovered from the collapse he had when his doom was sealed, was completely composed today. He ate his breakfast well into the morning and ate heartily at a late breakfast of cereal, eggs and toast and coffee.

Desatnick arrived in the Jewish rest home conducted by Moses L. Beder at 1000 Broadway, New York, where he was confined for the first time.

A chaplain promised he would be at the prisoner's cell from now until the State executes his toll, probably after midnight, Tuesday morning.

Despite the prisoner's complaint, warden Hendry wanted relatives of the man to visit him in the death house today.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

By humid close recent rains, he made the task of physicians a virtually hopeless one. Absences have formed in most of the patient's case studies of Worcester hospitals are being considered.

Nurses and doctors from Boston, New Haven, New Britain, Ct., and New York city are actively enforcing orders of health authorities that persons who handle food be subjected to at least one negative test while those handling milk submit to a more thorough examination.

A pathetic feature of the death of Mrs. Leroy Hubby, 70, one of the recent victims, is that her husband died of the maldy late Saturday.

In addition it was found that Dorothy Coons, who died two days ago following an operation for appendicitis, was also a victim of the epidemic.

Only a short time before the last breath of Mrs. Hubby, she had been named by town officials and health authorities as official suspect in giving out information concerning the epidemic. He had called on persons in the town to co-operate with the health department in an effort to curb the epidemic's spread.

Producers and dealers in milk and cream have been ordered to inspect their herds and flocks, and to report any signs of illness to the health department.

John B. Cummings and attorney James Fallon have retained as counsel.

Dr. Brimman, one of the fiercest opponents to putting the ruling into effect, has been ordered by the health department to abide by the health board's ruling.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

Douglas was taken along the Finnish plane.

Deaths Faithful Till Death Took Malmgren

(Special, 1928, by the Associated Press.)

Finland's most famous statesman, Carl Olof Malmgren, died today at 80, after a long illness.

Mr. Malmgren was born in 1848 in the village of Kauhajoki, Finland. He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

It was not until then that Capt. Prince Zappi and Albert Zappi, left him to push on. The two rescued men reached today in telling of their other experiences before being rescued by the Krainin.

They said that all the members of the crew of the Itala who were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala.

They said that all the members of the crew of the Itala who were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala.

Judge Disbelieves in "Angels of Joy"; 3 Get Six Months

If there is a male "angel" walking along Cambridge st. giving away money without being asked, then Judge Thomas J. Dwyer wants to meet that angel face to face.

When three men charged with being vagrants were arrested before him today they each claimed that a man walked to them on Cambridge st., near Joy, and proceeded to give them money by presenting them with money, unasked.

"I don't believe it," Judge Dwyer declared after hearing the story related by the men giving their names as Michael Smith, Joseph Conner and Robert Phillips. "But while you are serving six months in jail I shall try to catch the angel."

ON PAROLE FOR SLAVER

Continued from First Page.

Carroll and Bruno Kowalski, both of Thayer st., North End, are charged by the federal authorities with having, for the last three months, handled the distribution of drugs to addicts frequenting the Common.

According to Asst. U. S. Attorney John J. Walsh, Carroll was indicted for first degree murder in 1913 and convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the following year of second degree murder, serving seven years before being paroled.

COMMON BEST MARKET.

Members of the Boston police narcotics squad in civilian clothes yesterday made a hunt for the directing genius of the peddlers, who conduct business on various city playgrounds, avoiding their arrest by simulating an interest in the game of children and having the Common as their most lucrative haunt.

Because of the extent of the "drug" business on the Common, it is said to appear there daily, maintaining a "mark" department foreman, in order to keep close watch on his henchmen, and to give them the go-ahead signal to disperse his identity when caught.

Part of the credit of the "drug" trade is said to go to the "angel" who is said to appear there daily, maintaining a "mark" department foreman, in order to keep close watch on his henchmen, and to give them the go-ahead signal to disperse his identity when caught.

RASKOB DENIES

Continued from First Page.

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, at his summer home near Centerville, Md., today denied a report from the Legislature that he had been nominated for the Republican nomination at Kansas City.

"I did not talk to the President about the campaign," Mr. Raskob said. "I have been asked for my private opinion that Mr. Coolidge would be defeated, because, as a business man, he is not a statesman. The Republican party would take a chance with a weaker candidate against the popularity of Governor Smith."

Raskob denied emphatically that he had told a Washington correspondent that while he was a director of Governor Smith he preferred President Coolidge as a candidate.

Raskob indicated willingness to serve on the Lincoln League as a member of its executive committee, which has always been Republican, and which has been a part of the Democratic national committee.

"I have no desire to embarrass the union league," he said. "I shall be guided by the advice of its officers, and it is found that the union league has been to the rescue of the party in the past."

"About 10 years ago, when I was in the Lincoln League, I let it be known that I voted for Woodrow Wilson. I have never been officially affiliated with either the Republican or Democratic party, and have never voted either a Republican or Democratic vote in any election."

"I see an opportunity of performing some constructive service by helping relieve the confusion and confusion of the party. My feeling is that a scheme of control the manufacturer, the transportation and consumption of intoxicating liquors under which it must be had for home consumption and prevent the return of the saloon, which the use of liquor was abused in such communities as vote there under a local option law, will be the best solution."

"All right-thinking people are for temperance, law and order, and I expect them to be respected."

"I must assure that there is a wide lack of respect for the State and the nation, and I expect them to be respected."

"I expect them to be respected."

RASKOB DENIES

Continued from First Page.

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, at his summer home near Centerville, Md., today denied a report from the Legislature that he had been nominated for the Republican nomination at Kansas City.

"I did not talk to the President about the campaign," Mr. Raskob said. "I have been asked for my private opinion that Mr. Coolidge would be defeated, because, as a business man, he is not a statesman. The Republican party would take a chance with a weaker candidate against the popularity of Governor Smith."

Raskob denied emphatically that he had told a Washington correspondent that while he was a director of Governor Smith he preferred President Coolidge as a candidate.

Raskob indicated willingness to serve on the Lincoln League as a member of its executive committee, which has always been Republican, and which has been a part of the Democratic national committee.

"I have no desire to embarrass the union league," he said. "I shall be guided by the advice of its officers, and it is found that the union league has been to the rescue of the party in the past."

"About 10 years ago, when I was in the Lincoln League, I let it be known that I voted for Woodrow Wilson. I have never been officially affiliated with either the Republican or Democratic party, and have never voted either a Republican or Democratic vote in any election."

"I see an opportunity of performing some constructive service by helping relieve the confusion and confusion of the party. My feeling is that a scheme of control the manufacturer, the transportation and consumption of intoxicating liquors under which it must be had for home consumption and prevent the return of the saloon, which the use of liquor was abused in such communities as vote there under a local option law, will be the best solution."

"All right-thinking people are for temperance, law and order, and I expect them to be respected."

"I must assure that there is a wide lack of respect for the State and the nation, and I expect them to be respected."

"I expect them to be respected."

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

A last gesture against death to the electric chair was made today by Nathan Desatnick, convicted holy slayer, when he called for his counsel, Congressman George R. Studds of Worcester.

The condemned man his counsel with the mother of the babe whose death has brought a father to the death cell at Charlestown, poured over evidence for an hour in the hope of finding an opening toward a motion for a new trial.

"I will endeavor to interview a certain state witness," was the assurance Congressman Studds made after the visit. He hinted a change in testimony might prove a wedge for the new trial motion.

The trip to the death house was the second of the day for Desatnick's wife, Mrs. Desatnick, who brought definite news that Baby Ruth will survive at her home for the first time tonight.

Warden William Hendry set the date after he asked Mrs. Desatnick when she would like to take the baby in.

"When would you suggest?" he asked.

"Tomorrow would be the best time," the warden said, and the wife agreed.

Desatnick, completely recovered from the collapse he had when his doom was sealed, was completely composed today. He ate his breakfast well into the morning and ate heartily at a late breakfast of cereal, eggs and toast and coffee.

Desatnick arrived in the Jewish rest home conducted by Moses L. Beder at 1000 Broadway, New York, where he was confined for the first time.

A chaplain promised he would be at the prisoner's cell from now until the State executes his toll, probably after midnight, Tuesday morning.

Despite the prisoner's complaint, warden Hendry wanted relatives of the man to visit him in the death house today.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

By humid close recent rains, he made the task of physicians a virtually hopeless one. Absences have formed in most of the patient's case studies of Worcester hospitals are being considered.

Nurses and doctors from Boston, New Haven, New Britain, Ct., and New York city are actively enforcing orders of health authorities that persons who handle food be subjected to at least one negative test while those handling milk submit to a more thorough examination.

A pathetic feature of the death of Mrs. Leroy Hubby, 70, one of the recent victims, is that her husband died of the maldy late Saturday.

In addition it was found that Dorothy Coons, who died two days ago following an operation for appendicitis, was also a victim of the epidemic.

Only a short time before the last breath of Mrs. Hubby, she had been named by town officials and health authorities as official suspect in giving out information concerning the epidemic. He had called on persons in the town to co-operate with the health department in an effort to curb the epidemic's spread.

Producers and dealers in milk and cream have been ordered to inspect their herds and flocks, and to report any signs of illness to the health department.

John B. Cummings and attorney James Fallon have retained as counsel.

Dr. Brimman, one of the fiercest opponents to putting the ruling into effect, has been ordered by the health department to abide by the health board's ruling.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

Douglas was taken along the Finnish plane.

Deaths Faithful Till Death Took Malmgren

(Special, 1928, by the Associated Press.)

Finland's most famous statesman, Carl Olof Malmgren, died today at 80, after a long illness.

Mr. Malmgren was born in 1848 in the village of Kauhajoki, Finland. He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

He was a member of the Finnish parliament for many years.

DEATH CELL SOBS

Continued from First Page.

It was not until then that Capt. Prince Zappi and Albert Zappi, left him to push on. The two rescued men reached today in telling of their other experiences before being rescued by the Krainin.

They said that all the members of the crew of the Itala who were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala.

They said that all the members of the crew of the Itala who were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala were the last of the crew to be rescued from the Itala.

Judge Disbelieves in "Angels of Joy"; 3 Get Six Months

If there is a male "angel" walking along Cambridge st. giving away money without being asked, then Judge Thomas J. Dwyer wants to meet that angel face to face.

When three men charged with being vagrants were arrested before him today they each claimed that a man walked to them on Cambridge st., near Joy, and proceeded to give them money by presenting them with money, unasked.

"I don't believe it," Judge Dwyer declared after hearing the story related by the men giving their names as Michael Smith, Joseph Conner and Robert Phillips. "But while you are serving six months in jail I shall try to catch the angel."

ON PAROLE FOR SLAVER

Continued from First Page.

Carroll and Bruno Kowalski, both of Thayer st., North End, are charged by the federal authorities with having, for the last three months, handled the distribution of drugs to addicts frequenting the Common.

According to Asst. U. S. Attorney John J. Walsh, Carroll was indicted for first degree murder in 1913 and convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the following year of second degree murder, serving seven years before being paroled.

COMMON BEST MARKET.

Members of the Boston police narcotics squad in civilian clothes yesterday made a hunt for the directing genius of the peddlers, who conduct business on various city playgrounds, avoiding their arrest by simulating an interest in the game of children and having the Common as their most lucrative haunt.

Because of the extent of the "drug" business on the Common, it is said to appear there daily, maintaining a "mark" department foreman, in order to keep close watch on his henchmen, and to give them the go-ahead signal to disperse his identity when caught.

Part of the credit of the "drug" trade is said to go to the "angel" who is said to appear there daily, maintaining a "mark" department foreman, in order to keep close watch on his henchmen, and to give them the go-ahead signal to disperse his identity when caught.

RASKOB DENIES

Continued from First Page.

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, at his summer home near Centerville, Md., today denied a report from the Legislature that he had been nominated for the Republican nomination at Kansas City.

"I did not talk to the President about the campaign," Mr. Raskob said. "I have been asked for my private opinion that Mr. Coolidge would be defeated, because, as a business man, he is not a statesman. The Republican party would take a chance with a weaker candidate against the popularity of Governor Smith."

Raskob denied emphatically that he had told a Washington correspondent that while he was a director of Governor Smith he preferred President Coolidge as a candidate.

Raskob indicated willingness to serve on the Lincoln League as a member of its executive committee, which has always been Republican, and which has been a part of the Democratic national committee.

"I have no desire to embarrass the union league," he said. "I shall be guided by the advice of its officers, and it is found that the union league has been to the rescue of the party in the past."

"About 10 years ago, when I was in the Lincoln League, I let it be known that I voted for Woodrow Wilson. I have never been officially affiliated with either the Republican or Democratic party, and have never voted either a Republican or Democratic vote in any election."

"I see an opportunity of performing some constructive service by helping relieve the confusion and confusion of the party. My feeling is that a scheme of control the manufacturer, the transportation and consumption of intoxicating liquors under which it must be had for home consumption and prevent the return of the saloon, which the use of liquor was abused in such communities as vote there under a local option law, will be the best solution."

"All right-thinking people are for temperance, law and order, and I expect them to be respected."

"I must assure that there is a wide lack of respect for the State and the nation, and I expect them to be respected."

"I expect them to be respected."

RASKOB DENIES

Continued from First Page.

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, at his summer home near Centerville, Md., today denied a report from the Legislature that he had been nominated for the Republican nomination at Kansas City.

"I did not talk to the President about the campaign," Mr. Raskob said. "I have been asked for my private opinion that Mr. Coolidge would be defeated, because, as a business man, he is not a statesman. The Republican party would take a chance with a weaker candidate against the popularity of Governor Smith."

Raskob denied emphatically that he had told a Washington correspondent that while he was a director of Governor Smith he preferred President Coolidge as a candidate.

Raskob indicated willingness to serve on the Lincoln League as a member of its executive committee, which has always been Republican, and which has been a part of the Democratic national committee.

"I have no desire to embarrass the union league," he said. "I shall be guided by the advice of its officers, and it is found that the union league has been to the rescue of the party in the past."

"About 10 years ago, when I was in the Lincoln League, I let it be known that I voted for Woodrow Wilson. I have never been officially affiliated with either the Republican or Democratic party, and have never voted either a Republican or Democratic vote in any election."

"I see an opportunity of performing some constructive service by helping relieve the confusion and confusion of the party. My feeling is that a scheme of control the manufacturer, the transportation and consumption of intoxicating liquors under which it must be had for home consumption and prevent the return of the saloon, which the use of liquor was abused in such communities as vote there under a local option law, will be the best solution."

"All right-thinking people are for temperance, law and order, and I expect them to be respected."

"I must assure that

STAGE AND SCREEN

COPLEY PLAYERS, FOR MIDSUMMER EXERCISE, HOP FROM ONE FARCE TO ANOTHER

A WORK OF ART seems to be attracting the young lady. But Marceline Day is a fairly good specimen of art in her own right as you can see by Ralph Forbes' admiring gaze. It's in "Under the Black Eagle." (Loew's Orpheum.)

THE DOCTOR'S DILEMMA this might be called. The medicine man, Edmund Burns, seems puzzled, while Lois Wilson stands anxiously across his shoulder. Maybe there's good reason for the lady's evident alarm. "Ransom" is the picture. (Keith-Albee Boston.)

A STIFF UPPER LIP, complete with regulation eyebrow, is being kept doubly firmly in place by Carmel Myers, who seems to be very well situated and in complete juxtaposition with reference to young Mr. Ransom Novarre. It concerns "A Certain Young Man." (Loew's State.)

AN UNTIMELY ARRIVAL. The dentist, for such William Demarest must be if the chair means anything, has apparently disturbed Clyde Cook and Louise Fazenda in a studio party. Scene from "Five and Ten Cent Amie." (Modern and Deacon.)

HUNTER TAKES NEW SHOT AT SCREEN

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service
LOS ANGELES, July 13—Glean Hunter is going to take one more fling at the movies. Mr. Hunter, relying on his stage experience and his voice, is negotiating with Warner Brothers for the lead in "The Grifters," a New York play. Mr. Hunter is now in Bermuda, and before he can put his final ohn Hancock on paper he must get permission from the stage producer in New York to whom he is under contract.

MR. HUNTER made three pictures, the first of these, "West of the Water Tower," and "Merlin: the Mystic," were colossal disappointments. Glean Hunter of the age and Glean Hunter of the past were two distinct and different persons. Then he made a picture for First National, which was not fair. But with the charm of his stage presence, which is considerable, and his ability to speak lines, a probably will ride on the crest of the wave to success. That is, that sound pictures are doing for stage actors. Roy Del Ruth will meet Mr. Hunter. "The Grifters" is by C. D. Lancaster and was staged on Broadway.

HAROLD CHAPLIN has been debating over his picture, "City Life," for the last month. It is in a quandary. Out here in Hollywood, where the whole town goes talking, he is being urged by some of his friends to add another picture. Others of his admirers insist that as the world's greatest comedian it would be nothing short of suicidal for him to attempt to tell the world that he speaks in a cultured English voice and the character the picture would not fit the role.

WIZ seem to be hearing a lot about Abe Carole these days. He has made quite a dent in the oldwood film industry by buying the rights to "The Grifters" and that book and story. His last is "Fascination" by Samuel Merz. "Whispering Cause True" by George Frayne, and "Women at Forty" by Noel Thomas. All of these will sooner or later be filmed.

HOT NEWS GONE ASTRAY

JUST LIKE A MAN! All set for the big reversal fight and Nell Hamilton cannot find the camera crew. Maybe Bebe Daniels is placed at the top. Anyway, the original Eve of human history, she seems a touching creature. "The News" at the Metropolitan.

Soothing Voice

HOPE VERNON, musical comedy queen of intriguing super-novels, leads the vaudeville hit at the Keith-Albee Orpheum.

I DON'T know whether you know Benny Markson or not. Benny for years, was an efficient member of the Famous Players-Lasker publicity department. He always had a yen to write scenarios but what chance has a publicity writer to tread on the sacred ground of the scenarios. Finally Benny made the break and went over to the Fox Company.

I think it speaks well for his ability and perseverance that he is now being recognized as one of the best story men in the business. In fact, Winfield Sheehan thinks so well of the boy that he has signed him to a new contract. Benny's first assignment will be "Lipstick," an original for Mudge Bellamy.

IN the movies we seldom think about stage as interfering with motion picture production. That is why it came as a sort of shock to Douglas Fairbanks when he started writing the sequel to "The Three Musketeers," that he could not replace two of his original cast. Ben Hur, the man who played Lady de Winter, passed on, and George Siegmann, who portrayed one of the Three Musketeers, died only a few weeks ago. Doug had counted on Mr. Siegmann. Tony Sanford has now been given Mr. Siegmann's role and Carmel Myers will play Lady de Winter.

Doug is calling his sequel "The Man in the Iron Mask." That may be Fairbanks, but it sounds sort of funny as the sequel to "The Three Musketeers" does it not?

Film Futures

- JULY 20—Thelma Houston in "The Rocket" at the Metropolitan.
- JULY 22—Arthur Lake in "Stop That Man" at the Keith-Albee Boston.
- JULY 23—Haines in "Telling the World" at Loew's State.
- JULY 24—"Fascination" with Dolores Costello, at the Olympia.
- JULY 25—Norma Shearer in "The Actress" at Loew's Orpheum.
- JULY 27—Edward G. in "Warning Sign" (talking picture) at the Metropolitan.

FILM FARE FOR NEXT WEEK

METROPOLITAN—Bebe Daniels in "Hot News," a story of newspaper competition. (First run). In the supporting cast are Neil Hamilton, Paul Lucas, Alfred Allen, Mario Carillo and Maud Turner Gordon. Directed by Clarence Badger. A Paramount picture. On the stage, "Harem Scarem," a musical affair concerning the Sheikh and Sheba of Arabia.

LOEW'S STATE—Ramon Novarre in "A Certain Young Man." (First run). The story of a whimsical young English nobleman and his multifarious love affairs. It's a comedy. In the supporting cast are Marcellus Day, Renee Adoree, Carmel Myers, Bert Roach, Huntley Gordon and Ernest Wood. Directed by Herbert Henry. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture. On the stage, "Ransom" and "Harmony as You Like It."

NEW BOSTON—(Starting tomorrow) Lois Wilson in "Ransom," adapted from the story "San Francisco." (First run). A drama of the underworld in Chinatown. In the supporting cast are Edmund Burns, William V. Mong, Niles Washington, James Leong and Jackie Combs. Directed by George B. Seta. A Columbia picture. Also vaudeville.

SCOLLAY—(Starting tomorrow) "Crooks Can't Win," with Ralph Lewis. (First run). A film drama of law and order. In the supporting cast are Joe E. Brown, of musical comedy fame, Thelma Hill, Sam Nelson, Eugene Strong, James Eagle and Charles Savage. Story by J. J. O'Neill; directed by George M. Arthur. Also vaudeville.

LOEW'S ORPHEUM—"Under the Black Eagle," a film drama of heroism on the battlefield. There's romance, too. (First run). In the cast are Ralph Forbes, Marceline Day, Bert Roach, William Fairbanks, Haro Madderne and "Flash," a vaudeville actor. Story by Norman Houston; directed by W. S. Van Dyke. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture. Also vaudeville.

MODERN AND BEACON—(Starting today) "Stormy Waters," a film drama suggested by Jack London's "Yellow Handkerchief." (First run). In the cast are Eve Southern, Malcolm McGregor, Roy Stewart, Shirley Palmer and Olla Francis. Directed by Edgar Lewis. A Tiffany-Stahl picture. Also "Five and Ten Cent Amie," with Louise Fazenda. (First run). In the supporting cast are Clyde Cook, William Demarest, Gertrude Astor, Flora Finch and Tom Ricketts.

OLYMPIA AND PENWAY—(Second week) "The Lion and the Mouse," the talking movie. Adapted from Charles Kipling's popular play. In the cast are Lionel Barrymore, May McAvoy, William Collier, Jr., Jack Ackford, Alec Francis and Emmett Corrigan. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. A Warner Brothers picture.

HARD BOILED AND GRIM

STRONG ARM OF FINANCE—Was to the weak and virtuous in Charlie Kipling's great play, "The Lion and the Mouse." Here you see Charlie Kipling's impression of Lionel Barrymore in Kipling's spirited talking movie. (Washington St. Olympia and Penway.)

Comedy Queen

WINIFRED KINGSTON, artist, and, as Mr. Dimes would say, "most English beauty," takes part in "Don't Tell George." (Copley.)

WINIFRED KINGSTON, a new force in three acts by Dwight Taylor, will be presented for the first time on any stage at the Copley Theatre Monday evening.

Written by the son of a distinguished actress, Laurette Taylor, the play centers about the compromising situation of a young lady who is afraid of ghosts. She calls a gentleman friend into her room to protect her from them, but when her fiancé appears he is apparently quite dissatisfied with her explanation.

Winifred Kingston will play the leading role.

The production will be the occasion of the return of several former favorites to the Copley organization, among them Elspeth Duggan, Edmund George and Vernon Keno. Others in the cast include Max Edlin, Stanley Dixon, Norman Cannon, Ralph Roberts, W. H. Sams and Cecile Harrison. The last two are newcomers.

ACTOR'S FACE DECEIVING

William V. Mong, who plays Wu Fang in "Ransom," the feature at traction at the Keith-Albee Boston Theatre during the coming week, has not a drop of Oriental blood in his veins. He is a descendant of one of the early Pennsylvania Dutch families.

Despite the fact that the role in "Ransom" is the first Chinese character Mong has portrayed to over five years there is still an impression among film fans that the actor is a Mongolian.

During the making of "Ransom" hundreds of Chinese were used in some of the scenes and several of the sequences were filmed in Hollywood's Chinatown. Mong mingled with them and was accepted as one of them. It was only when one or two of the more friendly Chinamen insisted on speaking to the actor in Cantonese that he tried to convince them he was not what he seemed.

"But I'm not Chinese. I'm an American," exclaimed Mong. "Mr. Amelien, too," insisted the Chinaman. "Get papers and can't you men get up in despair."

NEW COMEDY BEBE DANIELS TO OPEN AT THE COPLEY IN NEWSREEL ROMANCE

"Don't Tell George," a new force in three acts by Dwight Taylor, will be presented for the first time on any stage at the Copley Theatre Monday evening.

Written by the son of a distinguished actress, Laurette Taylor, the play centers about the compromising situation of a young lady who is afraid of ghosts. She calls a gentleman friend into her room to protect her from them, but when her fiancé appears he is apparently quite dissatisfied with her explanation.

Winifred Kingston will play the leading role.

The production will be the occasion of the return of several former favorites to the Copley organization, among them Elspeth Duggan, Edmund George and Vernon Keno. Others in the cast include Max Edlin, Stanley Dixon, Norman Cannon, Ralph Roberts, W. H. Sams and Cecile Harrison. The last two are newcomers.

Nautical Swimming Pool Draws Crowds to Revere

The New National Swimming Pool at Revere Beach continues to attract the interest of the public who daily visit the open-air natatorium, built on the site of the old National gardens and Pitt.

The pool has many features which render it attractive. It is 100 feet long and 100 feet wide. At one end and the other are two and a half feet deep, while at the other the water is 10 feet deep.

Madeline Bertie offers a variety of aquatic pleasure for children of all ages. An added attraction Madeline Bertie appears in a daily exhibition of high and fancy diving.

OH! WHAT A HEAD ACH

YOU'RE ALL WRONG! The boy on the left, John Philbrick, is not being tormented as the result of an excessive "left hand." Instead, Dolores Farris has merely left her favorite knuckle-hole to report tragedy for Farris football in the musical comedy, "Good News," at the Majestic.

Flash, three-year-old polio dog, who appears in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production "Under the Black Eagle" at Loew's Orpheum this week, has been kept in training for two and a half years by his owner, William Steer.

Flash was born in Chicago, and as a puppy was sold for $40, but was returned by the purchaser, who was dissatisfied by his awkward and lonely ignorance. He was "discovered" by Producer Harry Ray.

NEW ANTI-WAR CONFERENCE COMING

Washington, July 14 (INS)—After world conference—the greatest since the peace-makers assembled at Versailles in 1919—is in prospect for this fall, according to reliable information today in diplomatic circles.

Secretary Kellogg favors a meeting of foreign ministers of the principal powers at Paris to conclude negotiation of the proposed multilateral treaty for the renunciation of war.

Kellogg himself is ready to go to Paris for such a conference, according to the new plan sentimentally adopted by the State Department for submission to Congress.

None of the other Powers has been formally reported as ready to participate, although they have responded to Kellogg's previous proposal have declared their willingness to follow the United States lead in consummating the treaty.

Amusements

BOOKS

DOLITTAN

PRETTY, PEPPY

BEBE

BEBE DANIELLO

DANIEL'S

DANIELS

HOT

'HOT NEWS'

Featuring NEIL HAMILTON in Paramount's Southern comedy drama, The Millionaire.

Featuring NEIL HAMILTON in Paramount's fast-moving comedy-drama thrill-picture.

DoDEMICHI

RODEMICH

TRACK — BOXING — RACING
— GOLF — BASEBALL —
BY THE BEST WRITERS

BOSTON SPORTING AMERICAN

SECOND SECTION

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1928

Uncle Sam's Athletes Training on High Seas

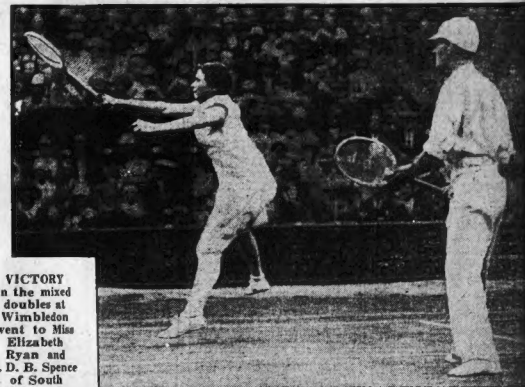

AMONG THOSE PRESENT aboard the S. S. President Roosevelt when it steamed out of New York harbor with America's Olympic hopes was Miss Agnes Geraghty, above, one of Uncle Sam's veteran mermaids. Miss Geraghty has been prominent among women swimmers for some years and it is expected that she'll add to the U. S. glory at Amsterdam.

FINALIST. Fred Wright, above, of Albemarle, who fought it out with Joe Norton, Jr., of Woodland in the final of the Massachusetts Amateur Golf Championship at the Essex Country Club. Wright has shown great form during the three day grind.

RUMPUS caused by his appointment to the Olympic team hasn't got Charley Paddock worried. He's taking things easy aboard the S. S. President Roosevelt with hopes of breaking the tape first in the 200-meter sprint in the international games.

VICTORY in the mixed doubles at Wimbledon went to Miss Elizabeth Ryan and P. D. B. Spence of South Africa, who are shown above in action. The team of Miss Helen Jacobs and John Hennessy of the United States fell before the Ryan-Spence pair during their drive for the title.

TALL AND SHORT of our Olympic contingent are Joe Tierney, former Holy Cross runner, and Miss Dorothy Poynton, 12-year-old fancy diver from California. Tierney, now wearing the colors of the New York A. C., will run in the 400-meter race.

AMERICA'S BEST in the 400-meter run is Ray Barboul, formerly a track star at Syracuse University. Barboul has a great fighting heart as well as terrific speed over his favorite distance. He's not likely to take anybody's dust over in Holland.

YOUTH WILL BE SERVED. Miss Beatrice Spears, now in training at Deal, England, will be the youngest conqueror of the stormy English Channel if she succeeds in her coming attempt. Miss Spears is only 15 years old. She is in trim and biding her time before she wades into the icy waters. The Ziffenfeld twins, 13 years old, tried last year but were unsuccessful. Miss Spears is said to have a fine opportunity of completing the swim.

PLENTY OF WORK IN STORE for Thomas Churchill, one of Uncle Sam's outstanding hopes to clean up some points in the decathlon at the Olympics. This event is perhaps the most gruelling of all the competition in the games. Churchill won his berth in the trials at Philadelphia. It was estimated that the four winners lost an aggregate of 50 pounds during the two-day strain.

TROUBLE AHEAD for our women swimmers according to this unusual photo, which shows Miss Bonnie Mealing preparing for the opposition of all nations at the Chiswick Baths in London. Miss Mealing is the Australian backstroke champion and hopes to establish herself as champion of the world in the Olympia. Miss Mealing is only 15 years old.

DUE FOR HONORS. Miss Martha Norellus, one of America's fastest scullers, is practicing daily in the swimming pool aboard the Olympic transport, the President Roosevelt, and will be in perfect trim to match strokes with foreign mermaids when the liner docks in Amsterdam.

ALL PHOTOS BY INTERNATIONAL NEWSPHOTO

PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES OF CHURCHES

At the Union meeting held in Watertown Baptist Church tomorrow morning the Rev. Alexander H. Abbott of Norwich, Ct., will preach. Soloists are Mrs. W. G. Courtenay and Mrs. Myra Safford Goodwin. The Rev. Charles Lygon Beaholes will preach the following Sunday. The three churches combining for the summer are the Congregationalist, Methodist and Baptist.

Architects who built the new Bethany Church tower in Quincy are quite satisfied their hideous gargoyles spouting from the four corners of the structure are according to the best gothic architecture. There are a few parishioners, and other citizens, who think gargoyles would be more appropriate, or if gargoyles there must be, less sizeable ones. The brutes are 130 feet from the ground, where any modern St. George cannot easily demolish them.

to members of the Franciscan Regular and Third Order throughout the world, for it marks the 700th anniversary of the canonization of St. Francis of Assisi. July 16, 1925 was the day on which the holy man was proclaimed a Saint of the Church.

Brookline will be dedicated at 2:30 p. m. by the Very Rev. Venenustus Ryan, O. F. M., provincial of the Holy Name Province.

The Very Rev. Charles C. F. will preach the sermon on the occasion. The musical program will be under the direction of Mr. Gilder, organist of St. Anne's parish, Wollaston.

The public in general and also the members of the Third Order and special benefactors and patrons have been anxiously looking forward to the dedication of the new church tower, and this occasion is taken cordially to invite them and all, to the

It took three to take this picture of a gargyle on the Bethany church tower. The camera was held down on the

Thursday, July 19, is the feast of St. Vincent de Paul, who was born in 1576, and devoted his life to the care of the poor and the instruction of the rich in the ways of charity. Soon after his ordination he was captured by corsairs and carried to Barbary, where he converted outside.

'SOL' NAME OF NEW MONTH
IF CALENDAR IS ACCEPTED

A year of 13 months is being considered by the Federal Council of Churches, which is being carried by a national committee.

The move to stabilize or calibrate the calendar by adding a 13th month in 1972, has made substantial progress with actual acceptance by the General Assembly of the Church representatives have put forth many arguments in favor of the move, but by continuing the ways come on the same day of the month.

Each month under a simplified calendar by continuing the first of the month would be

The Young People's Union South Boston, including the North End League and Christian Endeavor societies, meet Tuesday for evangelistic services at the Pilgrimage Congregational Church. George W. Sanders, president, re-elected, will have general charge of the Tuesday meetings.

police department, Prizhev, said the alleged assault took place here a little afternoon in a village corner, located in Zerkov, Western Ministry Administration. Investigators of the New York Boston gathered the evidence in cooperation with the ministry. Eighteen persons were arrested. In one place with the ministry, they were out taking in on answering telephone.

“60,” would follow June, since substantial number of advances have been pointed out by members of the national committee to the following the study by the national committee before a recommendation may be from America favoring the change.

But all the countries now looking into the matter concluded to postpone the matter until 1951.

January 1, the new calendar will take effect. ■

Lesson for Tomorrow

AEROPLANE REPLACING THE PLODDING PILGRIM

Two members of the Spanish force, Commandant Riagno and Captain Roa with their mechanic, arrived on a pilgrimage to Jerusalem recently.

Two airplanes started from Madrid on May 18. They were delayed at Seville and left the shores of Spain on the 20th. At Benghazi, the right wing of one of the planes was damaged and as no spare parts could

Dudley First Baptist Church—Rev. T. Brooks, pastor. Morning service 10:30. Preaching by Francis O'Brien, D. D. 8:30 a. m., "The Rainbow Covenant." Benediction, Quartet. "The Old Time Friend." "Mendeth Fam" and "Jesus is the Lord of Ages." Sacred concert service 7:30 p. m., Dudley Mixed Quartet will sing "The Old Rugged Cross," "Build Thy More Stately Mansions" and "Wandered the Desert." The choir will sing "Hallelujah Chorus," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Iris." "Praise Ye," Dr. Brooks will preach "The Old Time Need Revived." Modern Life "Come early for a seat."

THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST -

The Mother Church, Falmouth,
Norway and St. Paul Sis. Hospital, Minn. Sunday service at 10:45 A. M. Rablert's 1 lesson
sermon, "Life." Sunday School
10:45 A. M. Testimonial meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30.

KRAZY KAT

You Can't Fool Krazy—By HERRIMAN

BARNEY GOOGLE

A Hurried Trip Abroad

By De Beck

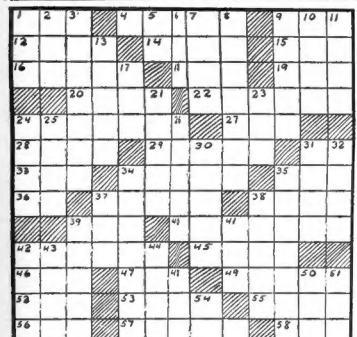

GOOD TIME GUY

Let Them Go

By Frank Smiley

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- HORIZONTAL
- 1—Moral.
 - 2—Who wrote "Marino the Epicurean"?
 - 3—What insect is noted for its industry?
 - 4—One.
 - 5—Who is the heroine of "A Doll's House"?
 - 6—The legal profession.
 - 7—Who is the "Prince of Darkness"?
 - 8—Hawaiian food.
 - 9—Who is Peter Gyn's mother?
 - 10—Eran.
 - 11—According to the legend, what did St. Patrick drive out of Ireland?
 - 12—What position do these men hold: Copeland, Borah, Helms?
 - 13—Anger.
 - 14—Vessel for holding water.
 - 15—Cupola.
 - 16—Depart.
 - 17—Part of a circle.
 - 18—Pertaining to the sun.
 - 19—Celine (abbr.).
 - 20—Nova Scotia (abbr.).
 - 21—Seven cities claim to be the birthplace of what ancient epic poet?
 - 22—Closed carriage.
 - 23—What State was the scene of the great gold rush of 1849?
 - 24—What large Asiatic possession of Russia was formerly the destination of many exiles?
 - 25—What system is second to the Catholic system in supplying New York City's water?
 - 26—Which of Verdi's operas was first presented at Cairo, Egypt?
 - 27—Atmosphere.
 - 28—Who was queen of the fairies?
 - 29—Who wrote "Gallagher" and "Soldiers of Fortune"?
 - 30—Who wrote a famous short story, the solution of which hinges on the solving of a cryptogram?
 - 31—Who was "The Testmaker"?
 - 32—Constant of speed.
 - 33—Greek letter.
 - 34—Black person.
 - 35—Crown.
- VERTICAL
- 1—Vehicle.
 - 2—Girl's name.
 - 3—What trans-Atlantic steamship, the largest then built, hit an iceberg on her maiden voyage, and sank?
 - 4—Indefinite article.
 - 5—Summit.
 - 6—Who was the god of love?
 - 7—What mountain, sometimes called Tacoma, is the highest in the State of Washington?
 - 8—Who wrote "Songs of Innocence"?
 - 9—Comfort.
 - 10—Female sheep.
 - 11—A Malay race.
 - 12—Trap.
 - 13—What wicked city of the Bible is connected with Gomorrah?
 - 14—Art (Latin).
 - 15—Stretch across.
 - 16—Organs of hearing.
 - 17—Theatrical character.
 - 18—In Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" who is Olivia's witty waiting-woman?
 - 19—Desert of Central Asia.
 - 20—Mountain in Thessaly, Greece.
 - 21—What Biblical king was "wiser than all men"?
 - 22—Traveling company in the desert.
 - 23—Covering for the head.
 - 24—Tree.
 - 25—What Japanese possession lying south of Manchuria separates the Sea of Japan from the Yellow Sea?
 - 26—Request.
 - 27—With what word are the following names connected: Horn, Hatters, Cad?
 - 28—Nominative.
 - 29—Sack or pouch.
 - 30—Frozen water.
 - 31—Pastor by stiching.
 - 32—Railroad (abbr.).
- Here with is the solution to yesterday's puzzle.
- MAT NOT DAWES
ANON REMOVE
RITES NONE
FLYER RIDE
L DEVOTE TRI
UP RETE OSAGE
TOP RENALINI
EAC NOT IT IS
ERE TROVES IN
ED MAS MEDES
LEVER IDEAS
O'S FORE NERO
SEVEN TON REP

POLLY AND HER PALS

The CorreClue

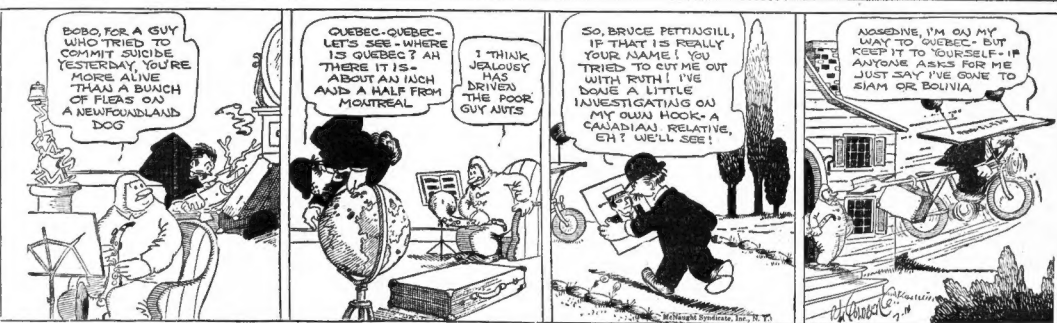

By Cliff Sterrett

GOLDBERG'S CARTOONS

Off on a Mysterious Mission

By Rube Goldberg

SKIPPY

That's Another Item

By Percy Crosby

TOMMY TUCKER

Manuel Gets His Instructions

By Herman Thomas

BRINGING UP FATHER

Going or Coming?

By George McManus

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

Perfect Identification

By Verd

ABIE THE AGENT

Getting Most Out of Life

By Hershfield

MEDBURY SAYS—

By JOHN P. MEDBURY
THE average politician has to be re-elected. He can't possibly break all his promises in one term.

Pitiful Case
The woman who knocked her husband as cold as he was three weeks thawing out.

You're Right
This country has a lot of good laws; it's too bad we can't find anybody to obey them.

Auto-Suggestions
They ought to take the shock-absorbers off the cars and put them on pedestrians.

Acc of Cads
The fellow who says he'll buy his wife a vacuum cleaner as soon as the house gets dirty enough.

Stop, Look and Listen
It's better to be down and out than never to have loved at all.

Homeless Moments
When a man who has money to burn, meets an old flame.

You're Wrong
Double complaints were not invented for two-faced women.

The Good Old Days
When the girls used to wear corsets so that they could pull them selves together.

Our Own Vendetta
They did the play have a happy ending?
Yes, they have and heroine got divorced.

Copyright, 1928, King Features Synd., Inc.

ONCE-OVERS

By J. MUNDY
YOU would like to be considered out of the ordinary. Perhaps your contact with those after whom you have tried to get letters has been with persons who are trying the same kind of bluff. The so-called "high-hat" manner that these persons exhibit appeals to you as the proper thing for a person who is out of the ordinary.

As by your manner, your speech your dress and your demeanor you are carrying out a studied effect quite far from the truth. If what is written as far as you, you have never met the really out of the ordinary people. Really great men and women do not pretend to be what they are not. They are great because they are true to themselves.

Perhaps you have been disappointed in the persons whom you have met who have reached really high stations.

They did not reach the envied position by artificial means. They have stood truly for something and have been recognized for what they really are. You can't copy worth, you have to have it.

Copyright, 1928, International Features Service, Inc.

THE DAILY DIZZY

BY HOGAN

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

Doctor to Mother—I guess Tommy will have to go to the hospital. Tommy—I don't want to go to the hospital. Doctor—Why not? The hospital is cool and convenient. Tommy—I don't want a baby. I want a pup. EVELYN M. HOGAN. 28 Villa Ave., Everett.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

VERILY, my daughter, harkens of have passed away and the seraglio is no more!

But still do men continue to demand all the charms and accomplishments of a whole harem in ONE wife!

For if that came to pass that a man no longer sought a cook, a valet, a nurse, a seamstress and a household pet for his delight; yet the life of a modern wife is by no means one long, sweet Saturday afternoon.

Go to! Once a man desired only a fireless companion, who would sit beside him after dinner and hearken sweetly while he read her snatches from the evening paper.

But now he requires a good sport and a little playmate, with a nerve of steel and a cast-iron constitution, who can peg a tent, drive a car, change a tire, wield a wrench, change a tire and carry her own gun. Yes, even a pal and a roughneck, who delights to share his games with the lady.

Once he asked only that the daimon of his choice be sweet and pretty and graceful.

But now he demands a Pate doll, who shall out-dance the acrobats and serve as a show-piece wherever he goes.

Once he asked only that the wife of his dream keep his name, her house and his house and his garments' modesty.

But now he requires one that shall run his house with one hand while she plays golf with the

COOK-BOOKS by Ted Look

CONTINUED STORY

"London Society"

Doncaster suddenly turned.

Synopsis—Handsome Harry Doncaster, in debt, decided to go to the Zoological Gardens next Sunday in answer to an ad which suggests a tryout with "gent who picked up a lady's glove at Dragons' Ball." We find him in hot lobby.

HEARING a man's voice, Capt. Doncaster turned as the words, apparently addressed to him, fell upon his ear, though "it is not the first time I have taken orders from you. Don't you remember Jack Shorecliffe?"

"Oh, yes," replied Doncaster. "I saw you at the Dragons' Ball." "I should like to see you," continued Shorecliffe. "By the way, did you note that superb familiar creature? It would be invaluable to particular where all is perfection. But did you glance at her eyes and shoulders? Alexander is a ridiculous comparison. I should like to know who found her glove."

Harry was angry by this time—

(More Monday)

Farther used the barbed. To make a batch of brew; Grandma pulled the stopper out; The fumes of tea.

—A. E. W.

Just for a last case— Some home owner ought to go into court and sue some restaurant for calling it "home made short cake."

And then there's the sign on a Redlands service station which says—

Ye Old Time Gasoline Shoppe.

Senator Hefflin is going to make a series of talks over the radio. This will give the country a chance to catch up on his sleep.

BULL-ETIN

(From Dispatch)

Chicago—Albert Rhymer, Marshall, Wis., who yesterday married Miss Marian Connor, daughter of W. D. Connor, millionaire Marquette lumberman and former lieutenant-governor of Wisconsin, today said he expected to keep his job as

Is it dangerous for a girl to have too much appeal to men?

GOOD GIRL

By ROY L. FOLEY

Nancy possessed that intangible quality—feminine appeal—and drove every man she met into a wild infatuation.

Inexperienced, totally unconscious of her appeal to men, she could not foresee the heartbreaking situation she found herself driven into, nor the decision she was forced to make in the crisis that almost changed her entire life.

Read this remarkable story of the girl who didn't know she had "it."

BEGINS MONDAY

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

Largest Evening Circulation in New England

BOSTON RADIO AMERICAN

[illegible]

Pick of the Air

7:00 p. m. — WDET —Wardner Astoria Concert
7:00 p. m. — WDET —Willie Robertson Orchestra
8:30 p. m. — WDET —Levinstein Stadium Series
8:30 p. m. — WBEZ —Goldman Fund
9:00 p. m. — WDET —Westminster Blue Jackets.

802 M-W23-BUFFALO
6:30 a. m. — Orchestra
7:30 a. m. — Concert

848 M-WH45-BUFFALO
6:30 a. m. — Orchestra
7:30 a. m. — Concert
7:30 a. m. — WDET —
10:30 a. m. — Concert
10:30 a. m. — WDET —

856 M-ETW-CHICAGO
10:30 a. m. —

11:00 p. m.—Slumber hour.
428 M.—WLW—CINCINNATI

[illegible]

7:00 p. m.—Orchestra.
8:00 p. m.—Dinner music.
9:00 —David, King, Home

[illegible]

360 M.—WCAU—PHILADELPHIA
8:00 p. m.—Concert: orchestras of the leading orchestras in the world. The fight would have floors

[illegible]

8:45 p. m.—Talk.
9:00 p. m.—Goldman Band.
10:15 p. m.—Dance music.

[illegible]

Federal Reserve authorities, with power unlimited, explaining that they wish to discourage speculation, put up the discouragement.

All the gamblers are discouraged, and the speculation is shaken out, then the speculation goes on.

Meanwhile the rate is up, the price of gold money is 100 per cent. And business man, borrowing at this bank on good collateral, is paying 10 per cent. I am very sorry but it is necessary to pay 10 per cent. for the 4% or 5 per cent, "became rate is higher."

Very nice for those that lend money, not so nice for business man.

EXCHANGE DEALINGS
Boston Securities Exchange, Jan. 10.

Hoover plate on the front of his automobile and a Smith plate at the rear. He is for Hoover, his wife is for Smith. The husband is happy because he has Hoover in front. The wife is satisfied because she says "Smith's name is the last thing they will see."

